Overview

Perched on a secluded hillside within the exclusive Cape Laem Sor Estate, Element of 8 is a contemporary six bedroom villa on Koh Samui's unspoiled southwest coast. Designed by renowned architect Gary Elton, the villa's clean modern lines and layered architecture blend seamlessly into the lush tropical landscape, offering panoramic views of the sea and nearby islands.

Accessed by private road, the villas is set over three levels and accommodates up to 12 adults and two children, making it ideal for families, groups of friends, or intimate celebrations.

The villas has been decorated using a refined palette of white, driftwood grey, and natural textures. Full-length glass doors and white louvred panels flood the spaces with light, creating a calm, breezy atmosphere. Large sofas and rattan furnishings add warmth, while a modern kitchen and bar provide a relaxed setting for casual meals or evening cocktails.

Each of the six ensuite bedrooms features a king-size bed and floor-to-ceiling windows framing uninterrupted ocean views. Beyond the comfort of the villa, guests can enjoy a private gym, a Balinese-style sala ideal for massages by the pool, and a beachfront barbecue area perfect for dining under the stars.

Outdoors, the villa boasts manicured gardens and a clifftop infinity pool overlook the reef below. Large shaded terraces are perfect for whiling away long, leisurely hours cooled by the ocean breeze, while the elegant living and dining pavilion opens fully to the panoramic sea views.
