Overview

Perched above the golden sands of Jimbaran Bay, Villa Aiko is a stylish four-bedroom retreat that blends modern design with subtle Eastern influences and enjoys sweeping views across Bali's Bukit Peninsula.

The villa's architecture reflects a thoughtful balance of East and West, inspired by the yin and yang philosophy. Natural materials such as teak, marble, granite, and reclaimed ironwood combine with contemporary lines and generous use of glass, creating interiors that are bright, airy, and seamlessly connected to the lush gardens and infinity-edge lap pool. From every corner, guests can enjoy tranquil views over manicured lawns, gentle water features, and the ocean beyond.

Each of Villa Aiko's four spacious bedrooms is designed for privacy and relaxation, featuring ensuite bathrooms, polished wood floors, and quality entertainment systems. Two of the master bedrooms open out to breathtaking views of the peninsula, perfect for enjoying sunrise or sunset from the comfort of a king-sized bed. Guests can spend the day unwinding on private verandas, curling up with a book in the air-conditioned library, or dining on a delicious meal prepared by the villa's private chef (additional cost) as the evening lights shimmer across Jimbaran Bay.

Families will feel right at home here. Children can spend hours running through the large gardens, swimming in the pool or enjoying the dedicated playroom which is fully air-conditioned and stocked with toys, games, DVDs, and even an Xbox.

When it's time to relax, guests can retreat to the private spa room for a soothing massage or find a quiet spot to read or meditate. With both indoor and outdoor living areas, there's always the right place to gather or unwind. The villa's grassy lawn and breezy upper terrace are also ideal for small celebrations or sunset cocktails with friends and family.
