Overview

Welcome to Villa Corana – a rustic Trullo farmhouse lovingly converted into a barefoot luxury Italian escape. Designed around a historic fortified farming residence, this one-of-a-kind boutique villa is perfect for an extra-special getaway.

The interior is truly unique, with arched doorways, conical ceilings, and rustic stone walls. The cosy living room has two sofas and a small dining table, while the well-equipped and spacious kitchen is perfect for meal preparation, or dining if the weather is bad. Outside, the villa boasts plenty of space, with a covered seating area for al fresco dining, as well as sun loungers for relaxing in the Italian sunshine. Villa Corana also features an outdoor swimming pool for a refreshing dip, plus there are plenty of places to relax on the estate.

Accommodation

Villa Corana has five bijou bedrooms, each different from the last. Each bedroom has a private or en-suite bathroom, and all come with air-conditioning as standard.

Two bedrooms feature a queen or twin bed setup, one of which has an independent access for added privacy. There is also a standard queen bedroom, a loft queen bedroom, and a single bedroom with sofa bed and independent entrance.

Villa Corana is in a great location to enjoy what Apulia has to offer. Apulia boast the longest coastline among all mainland Italian regions, lapped by the Adriatic and Ionian limpid sapphire seas. For the most part of the year, this region is soaked by the sun and cooled by a fresh breeze, making it the perfect summer destination for the beach lovers. Besides the magnificent beaches and the crystal clear waters, Apulia's highlights include the unique village of Alberobello with its white-washed trulli lining the streets, the natural wonders of the famous Grottoes of Castellana and Fasano, the baroque city of Lecce, Ostuni, nicknamed la città bianca due to the picturesque white stone houses and churches, and - last but not least - the captivating food reflecting centuries of mixed cultural influences.
