Overview

Villa Bendega Nui is a wonderful five bedroom villa, set amidst Canggu's lush rice terraces, just minutes from the surf as well as a mixture of cafés, restaurants, and local warungs. The property is ideal for either large families or groups of friends looking for both space and style. Set in nearly an acre of tropical gardens, this grand estate combines modern Balinese architecture with luxurious details and an effortless sense of serenity.

Created with input from acclaimed architect Glenn Parker, Bendega Nui blends natural textures such as Indonesian hardwood, Indian sandstone, and Italian travertine, with Indonesian antiques, handwoven textiles, and unique statement pieces such as the glass-topped canoe buffet table which is a nod to the villa's name ('bendega' means fisherman in Balinese). Every space has been designed for comfort and connection, from the double-height living room with oversized sofas to the 20-seater dining table perfect for long dinners. Each of the five spacious bedroom suites features its own distinctive design, luxurious ensuite bathroom, and views of the rice fields or private gardens, including one suite with an outdoor river-rock bathtub for two.

Spend your days by the large swimming pool, retreat to the games room for a round of pool, or curl up with a film in the library with a 50-inch TV. The team of staff, shared with neighbouring Bendega Rato, includes a chef, villa attendants, and a villa manager, ensuring every meal and moment is taken care of.

For larger groups, an optional private master suite can be added via a garden pathway, complete with its own plunge pool and garden bale. When combined with Villa Bendega Rato next door, the estate becomes nine bedrooms in total, creating the perfect setting for destination weddings, retreats or reunions.
