Accommodating up to 20 guests across 10 bedrooms and nine bathrooms, the property comprises a main villa and a separate annex, making it an excellent choice for large families or groups of friends holidaying together.

Overview

Set in the heart of Tuscany's Chianti region, between Florence and Siena, Casa del Borgo is a spacious countryside retreat surrounded by olive groves and rolling landscapes. Accommodating up to 20 guests across 10 bedrooms and nine bathrooms, the property comprises a main villa and a separate annex, making it an excellent choice for large families or groups of friends holidaying together. Traditional Tuscan features, including terracotta floors, exposed stone walls, beamed ceilings and wood-burning fireplaces, give the interiors plenty of character, while generous living spaces provide room for everyone to relax and spend time together.

The villa's living areas include several comfortable sitting rooms, a large dining space and three kitchens, with doors opening onto the outdoor areas. For those looking to unwind, a private spa features an indoor heated Jacuzzi, sauna and gym, while the outdoor infinity pool, complete with whirlpool, takes centre stage in the landscaped grounds. Sun loungers, hammocks and several outdoor seating and dining areas offer plenty of space to enjoy the surrounding countryside, whether relaxing by the pool or gathering for meals outside.

Casa del Borgo is well placed for exploring Tuscany, with the historic cities of Florence and Siena both within driving distance. The nearby Chianti villages offer opportunities to discover local wineries, traditional restaurants and the region's celebrated food and wine, while golf courses and tennis facilities are also close by. Combining traditional Italian character with excellent leisure facilities and space for larger groups, Casa del Borgo makes the perfect base for a Tuscan villa holiday.
